Meadow Wood News

Happy new year! We hope all families had a wonderful break over the festive period. We are keen to begin our new year here at Meadow Wood School. We welcome a new teacher, Julie Jackson in Rabbits and a new teaching assistant Julie Clayton in Field Mice. We have been working with Richard Hirstwood for the past two days who is an expert in sensory learning and the staff and children are thrilled with all the activities and resources he is sharing with us.

Head Teacher

We have been very busy re-organising some areas at school so we are a little untidy at the moment but bear with us as the benefit for all of us will be felt once everything is in place . The therapy office will become our new school office, where the office manager, Sam will be based and more space for teachers on preparation time and non-class based staff to work. The reception area has two areas for our school IT Technician, Charlie and receptionist, Maeva, to be based. The therapists office is now combined within a therapy suite where they can complete their admin as well as withdraw children for clinics. etc.

Rabbits

We have been enjoying playing with puppets and lovely sensory toys as part of our new topic this term. We have also been getting to know new members of the Rabbits team and playing games to help us remember names. Our colour of the week has been orange and we have made collage pictures using lots of different orange things.

Field Mice

This Week, Field Mice have been exploring toys and media related to this as an introduction to this terms “Toy” topic.

Ladybirds

Happy New Year!

We are pleased to welcome all of the children back from their Christmas break. The children look happy and there have been notes to say that there were lots of presents and time spent with families during the festivities. The children were extremely excited to go back to the swimming pool on the first day back and look forward to their lessons in the forthcoming weeks. The Ladybirds team have planned for some exciting art projects and will be making something rather special for February.

Owls

This Week Owls Class started their new topic on toys. They each chose their favourite toy for our toy shop.
